DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

Applicant's arguments with respect to Amended claims 1, 7 and New claims 13-17 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. Therefore, this is Final action.

Applicant cancelled claims 3 and 9.

New claims 13-17 are similar to original claims 1, 2 and 4-6 (filed on 1/31/2001), which have been rejected previously. This rejection is repeated here.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

1. Claims 13-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shin et al. (US6086443A).

In regards to claims 13-16, Shin et al. teach (Fig. 1 col. 1 lines 21-48, Figs. 3-6, experiment 1, col. 6 lines 15-39) a method of fabricating a liquid crystal display panel having first and second substrates, wherein

- The first cell gap should be less than $5.7\mu\text{m}$ at first pressurizing and heat process (hot press step) with 0.6 kg f/cm^2 , thus cell gap is at least $5\mu\text{m}$

("at least $5\mu\text{m}$ " means greater or equal $5\mu\text{m}$) for adhering seal members to substrates (claim 15).

- the second cell gap should be in a range $4.41\text{--}4.56\mu\text{m}$ or at least $4\mu\text{m}$ ("at least $4\mu\text{m}$ " means greater or equal $4\mu\text{m}$) at second pressurizing and heating process with $P1/P2/P3$ ($0.1/0.5/0.3\text{ kg f/cm}^2$) of the end seal step for adhering the spacers to substrates (claim 16).
- the step of sealing the first gap before step of performing the second pressurizing and heating process (claim 14)

However, Shin et al. fail to disclose explicitly the first and second orientation films.

It was well known art that the orientation films on substrates for aligning the liquid crystal molecules to modulate the light.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to further modify a method of fabricating a LCD panel as Shin et al disclosed with the orientation films on substrates for aligning the liquid crystal molecules to modulate the light.

1. Claim 17 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shin et al. (US6086443A) in view of Nakahara et al. (US6104467A).

Nakahara et al. disclose as conventional art (Figs. 1 and 4) a method of fabricating a liquid crystal display panel having first and second substrates, wherein sealing is performed by using a thermoplastic resin (thermosetting resin including glass beads or the like operating as a spacer inside the seal is used, and glass beads or plastic beads). Thermosetting resin can be thermoplastic used as conventional art for adhering under heating process.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to further modify a method of fabricating a LCD panel as Shin et al disclosed with sealing being performed by using a thermoplastic resin for adhering under heating process.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-2, 4-8 and 10-12 are allowed. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Claims 1 and 7 are allowed since there is no prior art teaches a method of fabricating a liquid crystal display panel with

- the second heating process being sufficient to soften the seal member;
- the second pressurizing and heating process applying a greater pressure and higher temperature to the first and second substrates than the first pressurizing and heating process;
- the second pressurizing and heating process generating the second cell gap, which is narrower than the first cell gap.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

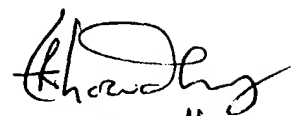

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
